Schofield, will be introduced at a tea dance this afternoon at Kauscher's by her mother, Mrs. John Hewson, and in addition to the charming welcome which will be extended to her by her own associates and by scores and scores of the old friends of her father and of her step-father and mother, she has also the feat of being the first debutante of the winter. Gen. Schofield was at the head of the army for several years and frequently acted as Secretary of War during the Cleveland and Harrison administrations.

Miss Schofield is a charming young girl, with already a wide acquaintance in the younger set, gained during school days and during her vacations in this city at holiday times. Her half-sister, Mrs. Avery D. Andrews of Philadelphia, the elder daughter of the late Gen. Schofield, is Mrs. Hewson's house guest and will also assist at the reception this afternoon.

Mrs. Hewson will be assisted by Mrs. Lane, wife of the Secretary of State, Mrs. Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, Mrs. Lane, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, Mrs. Avery D. Andrews and Mrs. George D. Dunbar. Miss Elizabeth Harrison, daughter of the late President Harrison, Miss Angela Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bassett Moore of New York, and Miss Edith Bond of New York, who are guests at the wedding home, Miss Ruth Patterson, Miss Lillian Hendricks, Miss Frances Traver, Miss Margaret Fahrenthorpe, Miss Margaret Read, Miss Alexandra Ewing, Miss Katherine Harlow, Miss Beatrice Clover, Miss Callie Hoke Smith, Miss Jeannette Cowan and Miss Helen Bidgett will form the younger contingent of assistants.

Following the tea dance Mr. and Mrs. Hewson will take Miss Schofield to their house guests and the younger members of the receiving party, as well as a number of young men, to the Chevy Chase Club for dinner and dancing afterward.

The residence of Dr. James Duncan Gatewood, U. S. N., and Mrs. Gatewood was the scene of a beautiful wedding today at noon, when their daughter, Miss Hildreth Gatewood, became the bride of Mr. Toy Dixon Savage of Norfolk, Va.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room by Rev. Dr. Herbert Scott, pastor of St. Margaret's Church, assisted by the brother of the bridegroom, Rev. Dr. W. V. Savage of Churchland, Va. Before a screen formed of smiles and white roses.

The couple knelt on a white satin prie-dieu to receive the blessing from the officiating minister. The bride was effectively decorated with pink chrysanthemums, roses and ferns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in her gown of white tulle embroidered in the square-necked bodice was made in jacket style, finished at the back with a medallion collar of silver lace. The full skirt was short, and her court train of satin fell from the shoulders.

She wore a tulle veil, held with a cap of point lace and orange blossoms, and her only ornament was a string of pearls. A shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley was carried.

Mrs. Earl North, wife of Lieut. North, U. S. A., now stationed at West Point, and a sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore an exquisite gown of rose pink peau de seie, completely belted and finished with palest to deepest pink, with the bodice entirely of the tulle over white lace and a short full skirt.

Her large black picture hat was wreathed with pink roses and she carried a shower of pink rosebuds.

Mr. William H. White, Jr., of Norfolk acted as best man.

A breakfast for the members of the two families and intimate friends was the only guests present at the ceremony, followed.

Mrs. Gatewood, the bride's mother, assisted in receiving, and her gown was of sapphire blue chiffon over satin, trimmed with gold lace, and she wore a corsage of orange roses.

A Safe and Sane Buy

The National Capital is a city of substantial real estate values. Speculation has no part in its property transactions. Prices increase with a steady persistency that is correlative with the growth of the nation itself.

Money once placed in Washington property seldom seeks other fields.

Most of the desirable real estate in Washington seeks a market through The Star.

It matters a lot who does the washing.

When you stop to think of it one of the most important things in your house-keeping arrangements is the laundry work. WHERE it is done; and HOW it is done are vital.

The Tolman Laundry has eliminated all the objections—and offers all the advantages. We go deeper into the details of service.

Service is what counts. It means taking off of your shoulders every bit of the responsibility and worry. It means safety to the clothes—in count and condition. It means economy because of the safety. In a word, it means SATISFACTION—and that's not so common a thing in connection with the washing, as you know.

In the first place our workrooms are hygienically perfect—dry and sun-lighted, with pure air flooding every corner. We are critical of everything we use—even to distilling the water—and the use of Ivory Soap. Every individual piece is treated as it should be—and our chemist dictates the procedure. Nothing is left to chance. Nothing is done in a general way. We specialize.

You'll be interested we are sure in going into the details of our service as applied to your special requirements. For that reason, let one of our lady representatives call over with you. She won't argue; she'll just explain and leave the decision to you.
